9. Please describe your occupation (or former occupation if retired), qualifications, professional and/or community activities, and education

I have worked in the non-profit/human services sector for over a dozen years, starting in Snohomish County and relocating back to Whatcom County five years ago.

While in Snohomish County, I served on their Community Services Advisory Council and regularly attended that region's LPA (Local Planning Agency) meetings.

I have a Bachelor's Degree from the University of Washington in Social Sciences with emphasis on Gender, Ethnicity, and Culture.

I was born at St. Joseph's and raised in Bellingham, attending grade school through high school on the South Side before moving to Seattle to attend college and Snohomish County to raise my family.

10. Please describe why you're interested in serving on this board or commission

I am currently employed by Opportunity Council (a Community Action Agency) as their Preschool Services Program Assistant. In that role, I work closely with parent leaders from our Head Start, Early Head Start, and ECEAP programs. I believe parents in our programs are reflective of broader trends and needs among low-income families in Whatcom County and would like to see their interests represented on this task force.

Hi, Allison—

I have spoken with my department director, David Webster, and he has approved me participating in the Child and Well-Being Task Force.

The only updates to my application that you have on file is that I have a new job title (Executive Coordinator – Early Learning and Family Services) and that one of my references (Maureen Hodge) is no longer at Opportunity Council. I would be happy to provide you with an additional reference, if needed.

Please let me know what my next steps are, and thank you for this opportunity!

Sincerely,

Tilda

Hi Tilda,

I'm glad to hear that you're interested. I'm sorry that I didn't update our deadline—we're able to accept answers until Sept. 30. Please let me know if you have any questions and I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Thanks,
Allison
