RE: Ferndale School District – Behavioral Health Services Interlocal Agreement

DATE: MAY 30, 2024

Attached is an interlocal agreement between Whatcom County and Ferndale School District for your review and signature.

- Background and Purpose

This agreement provides funding for the provision of behavioral health services within the Ferndale School District, necessary to promote a greater ability for academic success for students who are challenged with mental health and substance use problems. School districts have been successful in reducing risk for substance use and poor mental health by providing access to critical services, as shown in the Countywide School Services Report (Exhibit C). Beyond benefits to behavioral health outcomes, cost-benefit estimates also show that effective school-based programs can save $18 for every $1 spent on these programs.

- Funding Amount and Source

Funding for this agreement, in an amount not to exceed $132,000, is provided by the Behavioral Health Program Fund. These funds are included in the 2024 budget. Council authorization is required per RCW 39.34.030(2) for agreements between public agencies.

- Differences from Previous Contracts

This is a new agreement, however funding for these services has been provided through previous agreements since 2012. This agreement supports ongoing critical supports to youth and families. The related mental health expansion contract (WC contract #202311010) with Ferndale School District is a one-time opportunity designed to meet needs and gaps not already met by this agreement. This agreement reflects a 10% increase in funding over the agreement ending on 08/31/2024 (WC Contract #202008019) but includes no additional significant changes.

Please contact Ann Beck, Community Health & Human Services Manager at 360-778-6055 (ABeck@co.whatcom.wa.us) if you have any questions.

EXHIBIT A STATEMENT OF WORK

I. Background and Purpose

The services provided under this agreement will enable youth and their families to receive behavioral health services that they may not otherwise have access to, especially in the County's most rural areas. School Districts are often tasked with providing effective educational programs to students who are unable to utilize them successfully due to compromising behavioral health concerns. According to the Healthy Youth Survey 2023 results, 62% of 10th grade students in Whatcom County reported feeling nervous, anxious, or on edge over the last two weeks, and nearly 30% reported depressive feelings during the past year. In a 2023 Adult Community Survey, 93% of adults felt that youth depression was a 'moderate to serious problem.' 83% of adults were concerned with e-cigarette and vape use, and 3 in 4 adults were also concerned with alcohol use, cannabis use, and prescription drug misuse.

Whatcom County acknowledges that schools are experts in delivering educational services, yet have become the default for behavioral health problems that require intervention. Whatcom County enacted a local increase of 1/10th of 1% in sales tax revenue for the express purpose of developing new or enhanced behavioral health programs and services. In order to respond to the pressing needs of these students, a portion of the sales tax revenue has been designated to provide behavioral health expertise and support to schools. School districts have been successful in providing access to critical services, as shown in the Countywide School Services Report (Exhibit C).

The goal of these services is to reduce risk for substance use and poor mental health for youth and their families and to promote increased successes in their academic endeavors. Anticipated outcomes include improved academic performance, decreased discipline problems, decreased truancy, and decreased suspensions among the students served by this program, while demonstrating better mental health and less substance use. Cost-benefit estimates also show that effective school-based programs can save $18 for every $1 spent on these programs.

II. Statement of Work

The District will:

- a. Provide behavioral health services to at least 115 students (ages 5-18 years) and their families, as appropriate, within each school year contract period. Those served will be students in the District who have been identified to have or to be at risk of developing mental health and/or substance use issues. Services will reach new students and also increase the dosage of support among youth already being served.
- b. Provide services to students who are demonstrating "behaviors of concern" such as declining grades, discipline problems, truancy and absenteeism problems, substance use, or related issues. Individuals can be referred by themselves, other students, school personnel, or family members.
- c. Link students to appropriate in-school or community-based services and activities based on identified needs of the individual.
- d. Manage the activities of the Ferndale School District CARE Team. CARE Team members will be trained school staff who will perform CARE Team activities which are beyond the scope of their regular assigned duties and require work beyond their normal hours. The CARE Team will work with students who are at high risk of problems as a result of substance use or mental health issues. Team members will be assigned a caseload of students with whom they will have regular, in-person contact. CARE Team members will work with students to identify strategies to address problems. Team members will employ asset building techniques based on Search Institutes "40 Developmental Assets". Team members will review and monitor students and refer to the Intervention Specialist, as necessary.

- e. Refer identified students to appropriate behavioral health treatment programs and additional support services, as appropriate.
- f. Ensure consultation and coordination efforts comply with all state and federal laws regulating confidentiality and client record keeping.
- g. Provide consultation and/or technical assistance to school district staff regarding youth with mental health or substance use issues.
- h. Ensure all services are delivered by a qualified professional.
- i. Participate in one provider meeting during each school year contract period, if arranged and convened by Whatcom County Health and Community Services (WCHCS).
- j. Participate in County evaluation efforts, including evaluation planning, data collection and reporting.
- k. Provide WCHCS with required behavioral health data from the Healthy Youth Survey (HYS) to determine the need for training and programming and to assist with ongoing planning and evaluation efforts of the school-based services funded by the Behavioral Health Program Fund. Any and all public release of obtained HYS data will be done in explicit collaboration with the District.

III. Reporting

EXHIBIT "C"

(Countywide School Services Report)

School Services Report September 2022—June 2023

Current Status

All seven school districts in Whatcom County provided behavioral health services during the 2022/2023 school year using local Behavioral Health Funds. These contracts made it possible to deliver needed services in all areas of the county, especially in areas where no services previously existed. In fact, 57% of individuals served (792 out of 1,400) were reached outside of Bellingham, helping to improve access to services throughout the county.

Compassionate Communities

Services delivered through these contracts support the resolution passed by the Whatcom County Health Board in October, 2013 to "ensure that 'compassionate approaches' are built into all public health related services and contracts including human services programs."

Results

Services delivered through the Behavioral Health Fund are designed to impact substance abuse and mental health. Reducing risk in these areas also impacts other 'life-indicators,' such as improving school performance and social functioning.

Figures in this report reflect services that were provided to individuals, small groups, families, and the larger community. These services demonstrate:

- Cost Savings to the community
- Improved behavioral health outcomes
- Leveraged resources

Cost-benefit estimates show that effective school-based programs can save $18 for every $1 spent on these programs. See page 5 for more information on prevention science that drives these services.

Service Reach & Intensity

- 9,687 Community members reached through community events and training
- 1,400 Cases were supported through individual or group services
- 1,333 Youth reached through individual or group services
- 243 Parents were recipients in services
- 11,351 total professional contacts were provided to youth during the year
- An average of 8 contacts were made for each youth during the year

The Power of Positive Relationships from a rural school district

By far, one of the best parts of my role is getting to walk alongside students and families over the course of several years. I have been serving one student, now a 5th grader since he was in kindergarten. When I first met this student and his family, they had recently been through a significant trauma that deeply impacted their capacity to trust others. In addition to what they endured, their young kindergartener also had severe symptoms of undiagnosed ADHD that made it incredibly difficult for him to participate in his learning or to form relationships. Being a consistent partner with this family at all school meetings over the course of their son's education has allowed me to both earn their trust and has also allowed them to build a better relationship with the school. As we went at their pace and with their support, their child went from reduced days at school with 1:1 adult support to now being nearly fully integrated in the general education setting with his peers. I have seen this young person grow in his awareness of his disability, take ownership over his actions, and demonstrate leadership qualities. He celebrated moving onto 6th grade with his class last week and it was a highlight of my career. The way we approached his program and interventions has and will continue to be a model for how we support a student's development of secure attachment, self-regulation, and pro-social skills.

Impacts in Mt. Baker

Another elementary student that has made significant positive changes this year is a 5th grader that I have worked with for the past two years. This student was referred to me with very prevalent symptoms of anxiety and depression. This student had Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome after having been exposed to domestic violence and abuse. This student's father was incarcerated during this time and the student was dealing with major changes in their overall security and stability. The student was totally shut down and was not engaging in any school activities. They would wear their hair completely covering their eyes, hood up and sit in a corner outside the classroom. The student had significantly restricted their food intake, was self harming and experiencing suicidal ideation. This year this student has made major, positive changes in their life. They are now actively engaged in their academic activities and have in fact become quite a talented author and artist. They wear their hair off their face, hood down, make eye contact and engage in conversation. Several friendships have been formed and this student has joined a soccer team where their confidence soared. The symptoms of self harm and suicidal ideation are no longer present and the student is able to engage in safe and effective coping strategies when experiencing anxiety or distress. The mental health support that I initially provided was frequent, and as the student made improvements we were able to meet once or twice a month.

Frequency of Services

Services are tailored to meet individual needs. While some youth may require just one or a few contacts to meet their needs, some may require more intensive services. One in three youth served had more than 10 contacts with school or community professionals. Some youth needed as many as 65 contacts during the year.

NEED FOR BEHAVIORAL HEALTH TREATMENT

Schools deliver services based on the Prevention, Intervention, Treatment, and Aftercare (PITA) continuum of care. Some youth are involved in preventive efforts, some may only need time-limited interventions, but others may need more intensive services, such as substance use disorder or mental health treatment services.

Engaging Youth in Treatment

From the field

"I want to highlight that despite the limited access to treatment we had quite a few students successfully engage and complete substance use and mental health residential programs this year. We had multiple suicide attempts that ended up leading to long term residential treatment and all those students are currently stable and they were able to complete their school year. There were a handful of students who were struggling with addiction to harder drugs which lead to them attending residential treatment out of state where they completed treatment and continue to engage in outpatient services to support their sobriety."

"I started working with a student who had gone to inpatient treatment during the summer. Student is a 9th grader and during middle school, he said he started using cannabis and alcohol. Student successfully completed 90 days of co-occurring treatment but once school started, he soon noticed he was having strong cravings. Student relapsed and was referred to me. We started work on identifying some of the warning signs that lead to the relapse; he recognized that he needed to engage in outpatient treatment. He advocated for himself and now is attending outpatient treatment. We are now meeting once a week, working on relapse prevention, he started playing a sport, meeting with his mental health therapist, attending Smart recovery meetings online and his school grades got better."

FROM THE STUDENTS...

Students in Ferndale shared how their involvement in group activities has helped them.

"Being in group with Mr. Saunders really gave me something to look forward to and gave me access to people going through similar things, which really made a safe space to talk about things I know we're all going through. It also just made me feel less alone in my addictions because he and group members know what I'm going through."

"Mr. Saunders' group makes my day better, even knowing that we have the group excites me. Mr. Saunders is a very understanding person and has helped me a lot with cutting off my drug use and I thank him a lot. When being in this group it feels like a very safe and comfortable place to be."

"I've learned different ways to cope. I ended up quitting drugs and alcohol because of Mr. Saunders' group. I can trust people in group and relate to more people. It's a safe space to talk. Doesn't feel like I'd be in trouble if I made a mistake. Made new friends and fixed broken bonds."

"This group has taught me how dangerous drugs are and how they affect everyone. I've learned that drugs are not healthy or something to be used to cope with. This group has helped me to cut back on quite a few things that don't help me. I haven't touched alcohol for a while because of this group. Every time I would consider doing something I could hear Mr. Saunders telling us about how it could effect us, and harm us."

"I learned about how I can't change myself if there's still a part of me that doesn't want to quit. It also falls into the line of learning about how no matter how much I want to, I can't control my dad's alcoholism and I can't force him to love me if he doesn't want to be the parent and change. Overall, working with the group has changed my emotions and point of view on drug use. Mr. Saunders has led me to be 8 months clean off of pills and hallucinogens."

From Bellingham...

"thank you for supporting me and not pushing me away when I didn't want to get clean... you are the only adult in my life who saw the real danger that I was in... thank you for believing in me even when I didn't believe in myself."

Services Created from the Science!

Prevention services rely on a large body of research spanning decades. By implementing evidence-based services that are designed to reduce risk, communities experience positive behavioral health impacts and economic benefits.

Age Matters

Prevention can be beneficial to people of all ages, but services can make the biggest impact when serving younger individuals. Reducing risks and building key protective factors in the early years creates life-long positive benefits.

According to the World Health Organization, half of all mental health conditions start by 14 years of age. Substance use initiated in the early years also contributes to much higher rates of substance use disorders as an adult. In fact, a two year delay in the initiation of alcohol use can reduce problems as an adult by 50%.

The data is also very clear that early childhood traumas, known as Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACE's), play a significant role in adult substance use and poor mental health, as well as a variety of physical health problems.

Investments Matter

According to the Substance Abuse & Mental Health Service Administration, cost-benefit estimates show that effective school-based programs could save $18 for every $1 spent on these programs. The Washington State Institute on Public Policy (WSIPP) has also calculated individual program cost-benefit ratios, many services of which are reflected in Whatcom County. Early services help to mitigate costlier interventions down the road.

Science Matters

Not all programs, strategies, and interventions are created equally. Hundreds of Evidence-based Best Practices (EBP's) have gone through rigorous evaluation to demonstrate and replicate effectiveness. Programs are available for a range of populations, settings, and levels of risk, but implementation of EBP's must be done with fidelity.

While effective prevention services do reduce substance use and improve mental wellness, they often simultaneously reduce risk for delinquency, teenage pregnancy, school drop out, violence, and other problem areas.
