ADO Deliverables:

The goal will be to engage in local and statewide to develop a comprehensive picture of the County's economic recovery needs and a plan to address them.

The ADO will provide recommendations to policy makers in our cities and county as to what actions our community can take, consistent with the Governor's orders that will have the greatest positive impact with the least amount of resources in the shortest amount of time.

The recommendations from the ADO will be advisory only and it will be up to policy makers to decide what action to take.

The deliverables should include, but are not limited to:

1. Immediate response - the ADO is encouraged to work with the Health Department and the member organizations of Team Whatcom to develop a program to promote safe reopening of businesses. The purpose is to improve consumer confidence by rapidly positioning our community as regional leaders/active partners in disease transmission prevention and safe social activities.
2. Impact analysis (within 30 days) - Through extensive outreach, establish and quantify the sectors of the economy affected:
 - a. Businesses expected to see a return of demand and thus recover in due course (e.g. Auto repairs)
 - b. Businesses likely to recover with limited assistance (e.g. breweries and specialty manufacturing)
 - c. Sectors likely to find recovery challenging (e.g. restaurants, retail, donor funded non-profits and higher education)

As some impact analysis has been done, the focus may be more on ensuring all key sectors are identified, including the critical inter-relationships between them.

3. Local actions available - Local government finances are also under considerable stress and can't be relied upon to provide funds to improve the business climate. Therefore, the focus on locally sourced assistance should be in the form of human capital drawn from within our community. Some examples of how this could be used may be:
 - a. Mentorship matching
 - b. Business management education
 - c. Cash flow management
 - d. Local collaboration
 - e. Promotion of "buy local" policies
 - f. Resource sharing
 - g. Resiliency training
 - h. Local medical supply manufacturing and reuse technologies

Local and Statewide consultation:

REP will complement their human capital with the State Commerce Department, Washington Economic Development Association (WEDA), the City of Seattle's economic development group, as well as local and regional experts (representing both small and large businesses) to support and implement the governor's four phased approach to opening up the economy safely. REP will emphasize what makes the Whatcom County region better as well as different and how we capitalize on this moving forward.

1 REP's web presence on the Port of Bellingham's web page will continue to maintain up to date
2 information on public grants, program assistance and COVID-19 general information for businesses
3 both small and large.

4
5

6 This group could be augmented with representatives from different sectors who will be sought out
7 to contribute to their respective industries. If practical, the team could collaborate and leverage
8 resources with similar groups in Skagit, San Juan and maybe Island Counties to build a more
9 regional response.

10
11

Additional goals:

12
13

14 Recognizing that uncertainty causes businesses to conserve cash and delay rehiring, while certainty
15 and optimism bring business investment and job growth, the team should seek ways to increase
16 local employers' and employees' confidence in the future.

16

EXHIBIT B

Health Department deliverables:

The Health Department's critical role in helping our economy recover should include:

- Disease prevention education and enforcement as businesses reopen
- Establishing and promoting best practices to reduce the County government's contribution to the cost of providing Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) to third parties
- Developing a program to provide information to businesses regarding best practices for preventing COVID-19 transmission
