Special Presentation

1. AB2022-625 Report from the Prosecuting Attorney's Office

Eric Richey, Whatcom County Prosecuting Attorney, stated he did not have any additional information from what he already shared last week at the budget meeting but he could answer questions. He answered whether there is a bottleneck in the courtrooms, whether we keep statistics on how many cases we plea bargain out as opposed to how many we send to trial or to how many people just plead guilty and get sentenced, whether it is allowed to file felony cases in District Court and whether that is a new process, and whether they still have two victim advocates or whether they added more since the last budget cycle.

Kershner stated as they find out from other counties about their caseloads, it would be interesting to know the bigger picture of how many arrests they are making, how much crime they are experiencing, and whether we are experiencing way more crime. She spoke about adding more Sheriff's deputies in the next two years and how that will work if the courts are already over capacity.
